

It has come to my attention that the FCC is considering pre-empting the no call law. Before I signed up to keep from receiving unwanted sales calls, I was receiving 1 call and up to 5 calls a day. It got to the point that I was screening all calls with my caller ID and/or answering machine. Since I signed up to quit receiving sales calls I rarely receive sales calls. Please do not change the law! I don't want to start cringing again every time the phone rings! Thank you.
